

INTEGRATED CIRCUIT DEVICES HAVING BURIED INSULATION LAYERS

ABSTRACT

An integrated circuit device includes a gate electrode formed on an active 5 region of an integrated circuit device and on a field isolation layer adjacent to the active region. A source region and a drain region are in the active region on alternate sides of the gate electrode. At least one buried insulation layer is beneath the drain region or the source region.